The FORMFIT PRO Ankle

DESIGNED TO MAINTAIN ACTIVITY

The Formfit Pro Ankle can be complimentary to your joint management, alongside injection therapy.

Formfit® Pro Ankle can be complimentary alongside joint injection therapy

Hyaluronic acid (HA) is a natural substance found in all healthy joints, including the ankle. It's a key part of the synovial fluid that cushions the joint and keeps it moving smoothly.

When a joint becomes injured, painful, or arthritic, the body's natural production of HA can decrease. This makes the joint less cushioned and less lubricated, which can increase friction and strain, leading to further wear over time.

HA injection therapy can help to restore lubrication and cushioning inside the joint. In some cases, combining this with ankle braces or supports may help protect the joint during recovery and maintain comfort over time.

84% of patients with mild to moderate arthritis have meaningful pain reduction 6 months after a Monovisc injection
